

CAD for Homeowners

In the past, computer-aided design services were limited to the realm of architects and engineers. Yes, you could get a floor plan, but only if you contracted for major construction related projects..

Now, you can have a CAD floor plan package recording the personality and details of YOUR home—quickly, easily, and affordably—with Floor Plans by A1 CAD.

Use it now, and use it again for years to come.

Your floor plan package expands and grows with you and YOUR home.

Why CAD?

For lots of reasons!

A CAD floor plan package is the best way to visualize the personality of your home, and record its unique features and details. You can use it now, and use it again for years to come.

Use your CAD Service Package to:

- Plan and outline major home improvements, renovations, additions and upgrades, both interior and exterior.
- Reduce costly mistakes by making informed decisions related to real estate assessments, insurance or construction.
- Establish a verifiable market value of YOUR homes' unique finishes, contents and assets.
- Add your floor plan package to property, content and home valuations, appraisals and financial documentation.

And, our CAD Service Package also includes a Room Finish Schedule and Contents list.

- Use our Room Finish Schedule to reference existing wall, floor, ceiling, door and trim finishes. Keep your information all in one place.
- Use our Home Contents list for the same reason—have a confirmed inventory list in the event of a major disaster, fire, theft or loss.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Simple. We bring our portable computer-aided design technology to your home. Give us an hour, and we'll give you a floor plan of your existing home, as well as your Room Finish Schedule and Contents list.

We'll give you a convenient disk copy of your Floor Plan Package so you can use it, or update it, anytime you'd like.

Not only that—we'll also keep a copy safe at our office for up to one year, absolutely free. If you need to make changes, just give us a call. We'll be glad to help.
